1. Cooperation in the planning, development and evaluation of academic activities for research, undergraduate and post-graduate teaching, university outreach and technical assistance by means of joint execution of such activities, under the terms and conditions established in each specific case, and in any of the disciplinary areas of the University.
2. Development of research projects in areas of mutual interest and competence, with funding from public or private institutions, national or international, and in accordance with the procedures determined in each case, as well as joint publication of the results of these projects.
3. Exchange and visits of academic staff, teachers and students to carry out courses, seminars, conferences and workshops in both undergraduate and post-graduate programmes.
4. Exchange, loan and publication of scientific articles and research results, bibliographical and audio-visual information, use of computer material and services, and of other programmes and services defined in areas of mutual interest.
5. Co-organisation of academic events for the dissemination of scientific knowledge and/or community outreach.

THIRD. Specific agreements

Any of the activities mentioned in the preceding clause must be carried out under the present agreement and according to a specific agreement, which must refer, at least, to the objectives and contents of the activity, the persons and units involved, the rights and obligations of each party, economic and budget studies and projections, the infrastructure committed, the coordinator or person responsible for these matters in representation of each of the parties and the dispute settlement mechanisms.

FOURTH. Funding

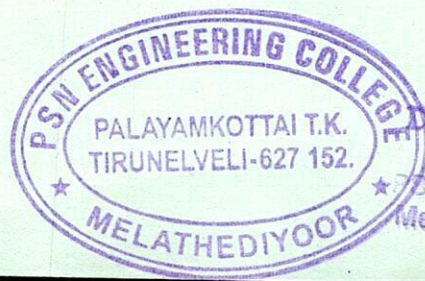

The parties undertake to jointly seek funding for the activities carried out, for which purpose they may approach public or private institutions, international or national, limited only by other agreements currently valid and binding on either one of them.⁶

FIFTH. Technical counterparties
